DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is not clear what structures are contemplated by the terms "an aerosol member", "a pump", "a time-release agent", "a clothes" and "hair brush", and it is not clear how these items are structurally related to the mat structure. Applicant has failed to adequately describe these items in the disclosure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rattan 4,161,284. See Figures 1-3 and column 1, line 63 through column 2, line 63. The reference discloses a fragrance producing unit comprising a top portion 12 with apertures 32, a bottom portion 14 and a scented insert between the portions 12 and 14, where upon application of pressure to top portion 12 the semi-rigid wall 12 flexes. Note that the wall may be repeatedly pressed (column 3, lines 1-5) and this flex action will inherently pull air into the enclosure formed by walls 12 and 14. The preamble of the claims 1 and 2, namely "A floor mat", does not add any structural features to the claimed product which would distinguish it over the prior art product.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rattan. The reference discloses a fragrance producing unit comprising a top portion 12 with apertures 32, a bottom portion 14 and a scented insert between the portions 12 and 14, where upon application of pressure to top portion 12 the semi-rigid wall 12 flexes; see Figures 1-3 and column 1, line 63 through column 2, line 63. Note that the wall may be repeatedly pressed (column 3, lines 1-5) and this flex action will inherently pull air into the enclosure formed by walls 12 and 14. However, the reference does not disclose a coating on the top portion 12. Coating or painting any object is well known in all arts. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to apply a coating such as paint to the top portion of the reference's product to produce a desired decorative effect.

6. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rattan in view of Fry 6,254,836. The primary reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed; see Figures 1-3 and column 1, line 63 through column 2, line 63. However it does not disclose the use of foam as an absorbent insert material. The secondary reference discloses the use of paper or foam as a scent containing absorbent layer; see column 5, lines 58-59. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use any well known scent absorbing layer, such as foam, as the scent absorbing layer in the article of the primary reference in view of the teachings of the secondary reference and the suggestion at column 2, lines 21-25 of the primary reference wherein it is disclosed that any suitable absorbent material may be used.

Double Patenting

7. Claims 1-5 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 3, 8, 11, 13 and 18 of copending Application No. 11/007725. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of 11/007725 include all of the limitations of the instant claims.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

8. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).
